

Quotes from some reviews of the original 1971 edition

"Campbell offers an important statement on a phenomenon which remains indefensibly obscure to many sociologists of religion."

Journal For the Scientific Study of Religion

"This brave pioneer study is well done, the groundwork has been laid and the territory mapped out. His writing is clear and crisp and refreshingly free of the fashionable claptrap of some sociological writers...shrewd comments abound."

The Sociological Review

"This slim volume may have broken the apparent taboo preventing 'the serious study of the social phenomenon of the rejection of religion.'...Campbell's pioneering study will surely set the tone for much subsequent work... [as it] makes it possible to study irreligion in its own right, and to treat religion as a residual."

Contemporary Sociology

"Perhaps a sociology of irreligion does lie ahead, propagated by analysis such as this."

Review of Religious Research

"Dr Campbell's work is...to be welcomed for his clear presentation and general lucidity.... With the publication of this book the subject (irreligion) comes of age."

The Freethinker

"Dr Campbell has chanced his arm in opening up a difficult new subject in a lively and stimulating way, and we can all be grateful."

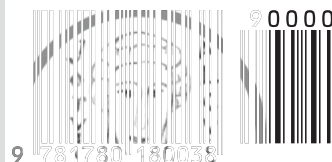

The Guardian

TOWARD A SOCIOLOGY OF IRRELIGION

Toward a Sociology of Irreligion

ISBN 978-1-78018-003-8

Toward a Sociology of Irreligion
was published in 1971.
This edition reproduces
the original with a new introduction by Lois Lee, plus a modern bibliography.

COLIN CAMPBELL

Colin Campbell